Worksheet 1

Conjunctions are words that join two or more words, phrases or clauses. Example; for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so.

Read each sentence below. Circle the conjunction that connects the two phrases.

Example: Stephen loves to play basketball, for he is very tall.

1. David has to wake up early, so he can climb the mountain.
2. Sophia ate a lot, yet she is still hungry.
3. The man is fast, but the woman is faster.
4. Steven went to the shops, so he could buy a new hat.
6. May loves to cook, but she needs a new oven.
7. Stephen loves to play football, because he is good at it.

Worksheet 2

Conjunctions are used to connect words in a sentence, or to connect complete sentences. When conjunctions are used, the result is a compound structure. A comma is used before the conjunction to separate the clauses. Three common conjunctions are and, but

Example:

Haley reads books, and she also writes them.

Alan tried hard, but he still lost the match.

We will take a walk, or we will go for a swim.

Use the conjunctions indicated to join the sentences below.

1. Mark ate pizza. Jim ate pasta. (but)
2. Will we wait? Will we go? (or)
3. Frank rode his bike. Jim walked. (and)
4. Ann has a pet dog. Kim has a pet turtle. (but)
5. I will eat a sandwich. I will drink water. (and)
6. Harry wrote the letter. Millie mailed the letter. (but)
7. George is hungry. There is no food. (but)
8. Do you want to go a movie? Do you want to stay home? (or)

Worksheet 3

Conjunctions are words that join two or more words, phrases or clauses.

Example; for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so.

Write three sentences by using a conjunction.

Example:

John loves football. John loves basketball.

John loves football and basketball.
